Directors Note

Our world needs more Tracy Turnblads. Someone to remind us the importance of celebrating individuality, embracing our differences, and the need to recognize both racial and social injustices. Topics that are still relevant in today's society. We invite you to travel back in time with us on a journey to 1960's Baltimore where we discover rhythm and blues, big hair and one determined young girl who wants to change the world.

This cast and crew have put in countless hours creating a space for you to not only be entertained by their amazing talents but also for you to take a moment to reflect on the things that are truly important. Sitting under the stars on this warm summer night, we hope you can relax and absorb all this show has to give. Thank you for sharing your night with us and if we leave you with only one thing this evening...be kind, always!

This role holds special meaning for John, who believes passionately in equality and inclusion for all people, regardless of race, body type, sexuality, gender identity, or expression. No one should be denied an opportunity simply because of who they are. When he's not stealing the show, John is working toward a degree in Mathematics—because even Corny Collins knows brains and beats go hand in hand (and math can totally be musical), spoiling two cats rotten, and reigning supreme as the favorite uncle to 14 nieces and nephews, plus three grand-nephews!
